

We got our job(s) through

AUXDIRECT

“We’re both heavily into computers and software in our civilian jobs, so when we read an AUXDIRECT ‘want ad’ that listed two jobs that fit our qualifications, we applied (separately) for both. As it turned out, we ended up splitting both jobs, with each of us taking half. For us, it was a good way to get more involved with the active-duty side, and to provide some help that Sector Baltimore really needed. It’s really rewarding, and we can make our own hours. Opportunities like these weren’t always available before the AUXDIRECT program began, so we still keep an eye on the latest issue of AUXILIARISTS WANTED to see what’s going on. AUXDIRECT. It works!”
